

AN AGREEMENT OF SALE CASE

Motion Before Courts Dealing With Subject On Which Opposite Decisions Are Recorded.

The question of whether a purchaser who signs an agreement to sell to buy a certain parcel of land, and after making the first payment fails to complete succeeding payments, forfeits the amount paid upon the completion of the agreement of sale, is revived again by an action now in process in the courts here.

The vendor, Herbert D. Merriam, entered into an agreement to sell two lots in Norwood to Mike Parich for a certain sum, part cash and the remainder in payments. Parich paid $400 on the first payment, but did not meet the succeeding payments as they fell due. Merriam then sought to put the matter in the hands of his legal adviser, J. K. McLean, Esq., who appeared in chambers on Friday morning with the vendor to the judge to have the agreement of sale cancelled and the money which is already paid forfeited.

The case can be described by a text one, however, owing to the attitude of the purchaser, Parich, when the next payment came due, it is alleged, he did not communicate with Merriam at all. He refused to offer to make the payment, did not say he could not meet it, but refused to reply to the communications of the vendor or his solicitor. In fact, he appeared in court to have abandoned the case, and notice has been served on him that an application will be made to the judge in chambers to have the agreement of sale cancelled and the money forfeited, but up to the present time he has, as far as can be learned, taken no action.

Methods of Settlement.

There are three methods which might be pursued by the judge in dealing with such a case. He may order the agreement to be cancelled and the money paid on the property returned to the purchaser, or he may order the agreement to be cancelled and the money paid on the property returned to the purchaser, or he may order the agreement to be cancelled and the money paid on the property returned to the purchaser.

Two Conflicting Decisions.

This case brings to the attention of the courts conflicting decisions made recently with regard to the forfeiture of money already paid on an agreement to sell. In the case of McLean v. Merriam, the court decided that the money paid on the property should be returned to the purchaser.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The Globe yesterday's editorial, "The Liberal Party in Ontario," was a masterpiece of misrepresentation. The Conservative majority in the Ontario Legislature, which was elected in 1918, was not a Liberal majority. It was a Conservative majority. The Liberal Party in Ontario is not a party of scandal mongers. It is a party of reformers. It is a party of men who are interested in the welfare of the people of Ontario. It is a party of men who are interested in the progress of the province. It is a party of men who are interested in the future of the country.

WILL ELECTRIC LIGHT RATES BE REDUCED?

Citizens Are Asking—During 1925
But That They Expect Electric Outlay Is Contemplated.

The question of the rates for electric light and power supply for the year 1925 is being discussed by the city commissioners and council for consideration within the next few days. At the beginning of 1925 there was a considerable increase in the rates for electric light and power supply. This was due to the fact that the city had to pay a large sum of money for the purchase of new electric light and power supply equipment. The city commissioners and council are now considering whether or not they should reduce the rates for electric light and power supply for the year 1925.

BANKERS COMMITTEE RECOMMEND MEASURE

Currency Issues Will be Submitted to Congress—The Recommendations Are Similar in Character to the First Fowler Bill.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The currency committee of the American Bankers' Association met yesterday, and drafted a new currency measure, which will be submitted to congress. The bill is of the same general character as the first Fowler bill.

The committee issued a statement of its views on the currency situation of the country.

"Any national bank in business for a year or more may take out for issue and circulation national bank currency notes, providing the surplus is 25 per cent. of its capital."

"The amount of the credit notes may be issued to 40 per cent. of the national bank notes which the bank has outstanding, but not more than 25 per cent. of its capital."

"The treasurer of the United States will receive in January and July of each year a tax of half per cent. on the amount of such credit notes."

Besides the foregoing amount of special credit notes, subject to a 3 per cent. cost, annually, a national bank may also take out for circulation credit notes equal to 10 per cent. of its capital, but it shall not exceed 5 per cent. of the total amount of its capital, payable in two installments of 2 1/2 per cent. each semi-annually. The committee has also received from several outside experts.

Dr. J. F. Lawrence, a professor of political economy of the University of Chicago, gave an extended presentation of banking theories, and also took part in the discussion. The committee has also received from several outside experts.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Geo. Abbott, Conservative, has introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Election Act, among the amendments being proposed for further restrictions as to expenditures by candidates, forbidding the hiring of cabs on election day, and making it an offence to give free transportation to voters.

It is also proposed to provide for a more general distribution of votes at election time. It also provides that in certain constituencies where there has been the practice to hold elections, the law on the floor must be made rather than in other constituencies and polling on the spot day. An amendment is suggested to impose heavy fine on corporation contributing to election.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1908.

THE TRIBUNE OF THE OPPOSITION.

The leader of the Opposition said what he had to say in criticism of the Rutherford Government on Tuesday. Perhaps it would be more correct to say that he demonstrated by eloquent how much he could not find fault with and by voice how little there was for him to demand an adverse argument on. It is significant that of no broad phase of the government did he take ground opposite to the Government and that on the smaller matters to which he devoted criticism he had few remarks of general import to which he appealed with the exception of his criticism of the Government's policy in the first debate of the day, and still more difficult to detect in it any contribution of note to the better understanding or the more efficient management of provincial affairs.

Mr. Robertson regretted the absence of allusion to the money stringency in the Address and suggested that the Legislature should urge Parliament to amend the banking laws. Well and good, provided the memorandum asks for amendment where amendments would be profitable, which was assuredly not the direction indicated by the leader of the Opposition. His theory was that the banks with more money from Western Canada and less in eastern Canada because they could get larger returns from it there. Clearly the gentleman is of those fortunate individuals who have not found it necessary to get accommodation from the banks, or he would know that the interest charges in Western Canada are anything but lower than those in the east. He said they had declined to take money from us, but they declined to take it as freely as they had previously done. The inference was that they conspired and assisted in the development of conditions in the West that made it no longer safe for them to continue to loan money, and that when those conditions had been produced they conspired their own interests with disregard for the interests of the province by the banking law to be effectively amended, the amendment must prevent the banks continuing at the creation of conditions which would maintain with safety to themselves. Prevention is the only effective cure in this case.

The leader of the Opposition devoted considerable time to what he called the inattention of the Government to the interests of the farmer, but he wisely refrained from getting into details and pointing out wherein the inattention was exhibited. He favored the establishment of an agricultural college, a project the Government has under way and there are a sufficient number of pupils wanting training. The forests of the northern districts might be tapped by a government railway and lumber made cheaper—an enterprise which has already been begun by a railway company. Coal was dear in some parts of his constituency. This he thought might be remedied by the Government acquiring coal areas to be operated if necessary to regulate prices—a proposal which is by no means new and which certainly did not originate with the member for High River. Meantime Mr. Robertson omitted to mention that the substantial sum of one million dollars was spent last year on roads and bridges throughout the Province; that the government interest to the farmers of the Province, and quite as much in line with the business of a Government as the building of railways or the operation of coal mines, and a species of inattention that is not likely to send the farmers up in arms against the Government. Nor did he mention the like to be worked into a frenzy over the alleged affront offered them, in publishing the report of the best commission before they had passed it. The Commission was appointed by the Government; the findings were of supreme public interest, and a delay in giving the results to the public would not doubt have provoked loud complaints from the Opposition members than did the course pursued. The Provincial telephone system Mr. Robertson wanted placed under a Commission—a proposal involving an expense neither warranted by the present dimensions of the system, nor called for by the public interests. The Opposition leader was displeased because the Government had sought to do the thing should be done, and especially qualified for certain positions in the civil service—an appeal that efficiency be subserved to police which is not likely to be much good to the Government nor much good to the Opposition. He was pained that the Address forecasted no temperance legislation, but he did not charge either that the legislation of last session was not beneficial or that it had not been well enforced. There was the usual appeal to action, the assertion that the Government were concentrating all the good things of the Province in Central Alberta and the indirect appeal to the province to become insulted and rise to wrath. Mr. Robertson concluded with the usual scriptural allusion to the individual who sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. He accused the legislators that had the Province the control of the coal lands the income from royalties could be made to exonerate the subsidy in lieu of lands; but neglected to explain how the price could be accomplished and the price could be reduced at the same time.

 Berlin, Jan. 22.—Chancellor Van Bower refused categorically in the Reichstag today to the Socialist interpellation on the subject of Prussian suffrage. This precipitated a heated dispute, and the Socialists left the house. The debate continued in the Reichstag today. A TIMELY AMENDMENT.

Alderman Armstrong proposes an amendment to the city charter to make city commissioners dismissible on a majority vote of the council. The present constitution can be removed only by a two-thirds vote of the council. The amendment would be by the votes of two-thirds of the members of the council. The amendment does not do away with the interference with the stipulation that there must be good and sufficient ground for dismissal. The proposed amendment is a move toward making the commissioner more responsible to the people, which may be taken with safety and which will meet with very general approval. It is an earlier stage of the city's affairs when the commissioner system was new and public and council affairs were untried to the broadened powers of the executive branch. If the city charter, there was a possibility that a commissioner who took his instructions directly from the charter might find himself in trouble for doing what he considered the charter empowered him to do but what the council might find beyond his powers. The amendment would give the council a majority vote might have been received against a commissioner through misunderstanding rather than because of fault on his part. There was a well therefore that in the earlier years of the system the commissioners should be guarded against such emergency, and given assurance to take up with confidence the duties assigned to them by the charter.

The necessity for such guaranty, however, has now been removed. By the public, the council and the commissioners have come to understand the respective powers and duties of the various branches of the administration. The boundary line of authority is now pretty clearly defined. Points which were by no means clear in the earlier stage have been settled by precedent, where not decided by interpretation. There is now no danger of the commissioners suffering through a misapprehension of the part of the council as to the duties which fall to them. Nor is there danger of them falling victim to a seller that in discharging their duties, they are encroaching on the duties of the executive body. The safeguard was, therefore, abandoned by the assurance that the amendment will not put the commissioners in a position to take up with confidence the duties assigned to them by the charter. On the other hand, it is desirable that the public servants should be answerable to the representatives of the people, as directly as the employees of a private concern to the management. The Government of the city has been often compared to the directorate of a joint-stock company, the commissioners corresponding to the departmental managers. In such concerns it is not uncommonly necessary that two-thirds of the directors should be convinced of the inability of an employee before he can be replaced. A simple majority of the directors is considered sufficient to require his resignation. It is difficult to see why there should be any difference in the case of the commissioners of the city.

MANITOBA LEGISLATURE.

Mail Insurance Bill Discussed—Consent Premium for 84.
 Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 22.—Business was put through the legislature yesterday afternoon with dispatch, all of it being sent to second readings of government bills. Mr. Agnew spoke on his insurance bill, explaining that the government had not determined on the form of the bill. The bill was introduced for the approval of the House and the suggested premium was 18 cents per acre on an insurance of 84 per acre. Mr. Agnew went into the figures of the bill, comparing it with the figures of the insurance of provincial insurance in Saskatchewan and Alberta. He was not sure but that a sliding scale of insurance would be better, giving better terms to sections of the province that were free exempt from the ravages of the locusts than the bill discussed. He suggested amendments to the King's Bench Act and the Manitoba Audit Act.

SPORTING NEWS

WANDERERS 3; LACOMBE 2.
In a somewhat one-sided exhibition of hockey the Edmonton Wanderers met and defeated the Lacombe Braves last night on the Central rink. A score of eight goals to two before a crowd of spectators. The game from the start was fast even though it was quite evident when the two teams met.

The puck was faced at 4:30 and away went the Wanderers, rushing through the Lacombe line with ease. Lacombe seemed to let go on the big shot of the game and again the Wanderers got the puck and sent away only to find themselves checked by the Wanderers. The Wanderers took the lead in the first period. The defense was strong. Finally, however, G. Skutumpah after McGowan got the puck, and just before half time Arnold Johnson scored the second goal for the Wanderers. The Wanderers 3; Lacombe 2.

After the first period Lacombe came back with the best intention of scoring. They worked hard and at times a regular volley of shots was poured at the Wanderers' goal, but they were wide. Lacombe could not find time to rest. They found away nicely and on a rush the full length of the rink scored. Then Arnold Johnson did the same trick and Banford repeated. Lacombe scored on a break and on a counter-attack. The Wanderers' defense was strong. Finally, however, G. Skutumpah after McGowan got the puck, and just before half time Arnold Johnson scored the second goal for the Wanderers. The Wanderers 3; Lacombe 2.

For Lacombe, their whole forward line worked well together and had it not been for the big work done by the Wanderers' defense, the game would have been a better showing. Christie, their goal, was a star and continued to play well. Lacombe was handicapped through lack of line play. The Wanderers' defense was strong. Finally, however, G. Skutumpah after McGowan got the puck, and just before half time Arnold Johnson scored the second goal for the Wanderers. The Wanderers 3; Lacombe 2.

A GOOD TEAM PRACTICE.
The Edmonton seniors had a full turnout last night and twelve men for a solid hour chased the puck up and down the ice as hard as they could go. At 7 o'clock the game was over and the ice for fifteen minutes was left for the team to practice. The game was a good one and the team was well pleased with the result. The Wanderers 3; Lacombe 2.

New York, Jan. 22.—If Longboat can get reinstated in time he will be seen at the big game of the Spanish war veterans, which will be held in the arena of the Twenty-second Regiment Saturday evening, February 28. San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 22.—Articles of agreement for a 20-round fight between Mike (Twins) Sullivan and Stanley Ketchel, to take place at the Coliseum, Saturday afternoon, Feb. 27, were signed here this morning.

CALGARY BONSPIEL.
Calgary, Jan. 23.—All the competitors have entered the semi-finals and another day's play will bring all down to the final. Marcauly, Edmonton, is now out of every competition, except the Burns. The final sixteen of that, in the Grand Challenge, two Calgary rinks lined up in the semi-finals, and four visiting rinks in the eighth. In the heavy trophy, McKillop, Calgary, is in the semi-finals and four local and two visitors are in the eighth. The Trimbles, Lacombe, is in every competition, and so far has not suffered defeat. He looks good for the grand aggregate, and has a great show for the Grand Challenge.

BURNS TO MAKE RICH HAUL.
New York, Jan. 23.—Tommy Burns, the champion heavyweight of the world, will make more money out of his next battle in England than he did for all his other fights. He is to take Jack Palmer, the English heavyweight, for twenty rounds at Wondersland, on the 24th.

CELEBRATED SKATERS HERE.

Admirers of fast and fancy skating will have a good opportunity to indulge their tastes at the Thistle Rink when Banford and Bellefeuille, two of the best known skaters in the universe, will perform, and they can do some wonderful things on the steel blades. Banford is the champion professional skater of the world, and has made, and made it, marks for speed which would amaze little him to be placed in the expert class. It will be hard to beat him in a race, and the probability is that it could not be done.

There have been in recent years of any note other than the best men of the present day assembled, these two skaters have been competitors and it is putting it mildly to say that in almost every case the best of the hours tell to them.
